PROCLAMATION FOR LABOR DAY ISSUED BY GOVERNOR WILLIS.

(Associated Press Telegram) Columbus, Aug. 31.—In setting apart Sept. 6 a Labor Day, Governor Willis today issued a proclamation in part as follows:

"No hand should receive a heartier clasp than the one caloused with toil; the figure bowed with labor and even stained by a hard day's work should be the object of special respect, for without labor there is only stagnation and death.

"So far as it can be done this year, let us aid one class of our laborers now unfortunately situated, by burning Ohio coal.

"This policy will help to feed the hungry and clothe the naked by giving men a chance to earn a living for their families.

"The exercises on Labor Day should be such as to impress the youth of our land with the value and dignity of labor, the foundation of our national life.

"Let the lesson of honorable toil be learned by all—Ohio has no room for mere idlers."

LITTLE DAMAGE DONE BY FROST DURING NIGHT

MONTH OF AUGUST THIS YEAR HAS BEEN COLDEST SINCE 1887.

The Same May be Said Not Only of Central Ohio but Many Other Places.

The thermometer at 4:30 o'clock this morning in Newark registered 41 degrees and at 7 o'clock 46. At noon it had gone to 62 and was fairly comfortable. At midnight it registered 46 and the skies had cleared enough to warrant the prediction that a frost would probably prevail early this morning. There is a diversity of opinion about the frost and if there was one it was probably light enough so that no damage was done. A few early risers declare that there was frost this morning while others state that they could not discover any evidence. There undoubtedly was quite a little frost in the low lands, but in all likelihood no damage has been done to fruit, crops or garden truck.

LIGHT FROSTS.

(Associated Press Telegram) Columbus, Aug. 31.—While last night was the coldest August weather since August 29, 1887 no extensive damage was done by the light frosts which were visible early today at many points throughout Central Ohio. In this city the temperature fell to 43 and went lower at other points, according to reports to the Ohio weather bureau here.

The state commission quotes the provision of the liquor law which provides that any county commissioner may be removed for misconduct in office and indicates that the circulation of referendum petitions would constitute such an offense and would be followed by removal.

That Governor Willis will take action which is designated in state official circles as "drastic" was foreshadowed today in the controversy between the governor and the state board of administration over the resignation of General W. R. Burnett as commandant of the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Home, at Sandusky.

By vote of the three Democratic members of the board of administration, the resignation of General Burnett yesterday was not accepted, this action being taken, it was understood, as making a direct issue between the board and the governor.

Governor Willis discussed the matter this morning with newspapermen. The governor said that at no time had he attempted to interfere in the management of the various state institutions, nor had he ever asked the board to make appointments or to bring about removals in order to create places for his friends. Just what action the governor will take, was not stated to-day.

Dr. A. F. Shepherd, T. H. Davey, and Star Cadwallader, are the members of the board who it is said, voted against the acceptance of the

WIDE AWAKE EAST NEWARK RESIDENTS TAKE STEPS TO ORGANIZE BOARD OF TRADE

A meeting of about one hundred representative citizens and business men of East Newark met last evening in Fairall's garage in Cedar street and completed the preliminary steps for the organization of a co-operative society of the board of trade.

The new organization, which is to be chartered later, is formed for the purpose of boosting the East End and also to bring about needed civic improvements and for the promotion of sociability as well as community welfare.

If the spirit manifested at last night's meeting is any criterion, there can be no doubt but that the ultimate results to be accomplished will be greatly beneficial to that part of the city which lies east of the North Fork of the Licking river.

When last night's meeting was called to order about 8 o'clock, by

DEMOCRATIC OFFICIALS DISCHARGED, IT IS SAID, FOR POLITICAL REASONS; MAY RESULT IN A MANDAMUS SUIT

(Associated Press Telegram) Columbus, Aug. 31.—Swiftly and with telling effect, the Republican axe descended upon the political necks of luckless Democratic state employees today, separating them from their positions.

Right merrily the official weapon was swung by Secretary of State Hildebrand, Treasurer of State Archer, Dr. Morton W. Bland, registrar of the vital statistics department, and W. H. Walker, registrar of the automobile department.

Secretary of State Hildebrand, immediately after office hours began, discharged W. H. Grogan, Toledo, salary $1500; Thomas Way, Woodstock, salary $1350, and David Pettigrew, Springfield, salary $1500. Grogan and Way were clerks and Pettigrew was stenographer.

State Treasurer Archer discharged J. V. Lawlor, of Carrollton and indicated that G. P. Dugan, of Springfield and R. R. Aukenman of Cadiz would also be discharged if they did not comply with his request for their resignation. Lawlor was removed when he refused to resign. Thomas P. Jones, of Cleveland, one of the bookkeepers was discharged last night.

Dr. Bland, registrar of the vital statistics department, discharged Guy Winegarner of Reynoldsburg, who is his chief statistician, salary $1500, and Clifford Lucas, Chillicothe, a clerk, S. R. Jackson, color-ed, who had been a state employee for 20 years, most of the time a messenger in the state treasurer's office, was discharged as janitor of the vital statistics and automobile departments. He got $70 a month. Jackson came from Springfield. "I intend to sit tight and retain possession," said Bartlow.

Auditor of State Donahey said that he did not expect to hold up the vouchers of persons appointed to succeed the ousted employees.

"It is not within my province to pass upon the question of whether the removal of these employees is a violation of the civil service law," said Donahey. "That is a question for the courts to determine."

Because of his demand for alleged political reasons, for the resignations of four Democratic members of his force, and his summary discharge of one of these upon his refusal to resign, State Treasurer R. W. Archer will be made the defendant in a mandamus suit which will probably be filed today in supreme court. The contention will be made that the treasurer, by his action, has violated the civil service law. The purpose of the suit will be to secure the re-in stitution of the discharged employee

"Sorrow comes into my heart whenever I review our present situation" were the opening words of the president's appeal to the cabinet.

"It seems to me that the general policy of the nations of the world is to conquer a weak nation, to invade the country which has forfeited the confidence of the other nations, to force upon the country which is on the verge of ruin. In other words, as many foreigners claim it is the heavy duty for the strong and civilized nation to annex and control a nation which is barbarous or semi-civilized.

"Our country does not manifest any sign of instability, chaos, or the lack of confidence of other nations, and it is most unlikely that any nation for the present will invade or insult our country. But when we think of the neglect of discipline by our soldiers, the irregularities in administrative affairs, the calamities of floods and drought throughout the provinces, the selfishness of some officials and the lack of public spirit among the people, we cannot help realizing the fact that we are enjoying ourselves while reposing on a bed of straw with a kindling fire beneath it."

After deplored what he regarded as the many shortcomings of China, the president continued:

"Some persons say that on account of our vast country and population, the destruction of our country by an alien people is a matter of impossibility. Look at Korea, the area of which is not much smaller than Japan. Some Japanese

BY CALLING ATTENTION AT A CABINET MEETING TO THE IMPENDING DANGER OF OUTSIDE PRESSURE WHICH IS THREATENING AS HE BELIEVES TO UNDERMINE THE GOVERNMENT'S PRESTIGE.

[Associated Press Correspondence]

Peking, Aug. 21.—President Yuan Shih-Kai uttered at a recent cabinet meeting an impressive plea for united action in China which made a deep impression upon Chinese officials. Its publication in English caused much discussion among foreigners. The Peking Gazette characterizes the address as "couched in the usual language of over-emphasis," but makes no attempt to discount the seriousness of the dishonesty and inefficiency of Chinese officials which the president denounced as a great menace to the republic at a time when outside pressure is threatening.

"Our suzerainty in southern Manchuria has gradually gone into the hands of foreigners," said the president. "The foreign aggressor has come to their doors but our people are still dallying within the midst of calamity. As I am advanced in age ruin when I am assuming the duties of chief executive of the republic?

By all means I must save the country. To avert the impending disaster is the sacred duty which lies upon the shoulders of every one of us."

President Yuan Shih-Kai is less than 60 years old and in the best of health, consequently his allusion to his old age is largely figurative.

"Sorrow comes into my heart tion" were the opening words of the state against any such fund and the auditor shall issue his warrant therefor upon the state treasurer and deliver the same to the treasurer of such county. The sum realized therefrom shall be deposited to the credit of the road fund of said county together with the sum appropriated by such county and both sums shall be used by the commissioners in the construction, improvement, maintenance or repair of such inter-county highways within the county, in accordance with plans and specifications approved by the state highway engineer as herein provided.

The owners of twenty-five per cent or more of the lineal feet abutting on an inter-county highway or main market road may petition the county commissioners for construction, improvement, maintenance or repair of such roads and the county commissioners shall grant the petition if they are of the opinion that the improvement will be for the best interest of the public, and the county commissioners shall thereupon make application to the highway commissioner for state aid.

The state highway commissioner shall award all contracts to the lowest and best bidders.

The county commissioners of a county may, by resolution, waive a part or all of the apportionment of the cost and expense to be paid by the township or townships, and assume a part or all of the cost and expense of highway improvement in excess of the amount received from the state, up to the entire cost of such improvement without any assessment or charge whatever upon the township or townships.

In no case is the property owner abutting upon an improvement to be relieved by the state, county, or township, from the payment of ten per cent of the cost and expenses of such improvement, excepting therefore the cost and expenses of bridges and culverts.

BLAIR PLANT STARTS WORK ON BIG ORDER

MANAGER McCUNE LEAVES FOR EAST TONIGHT TO BUY MATERIAL.

Contract Calls for Delivery of Trucks Monthly, Starting in November of This Year.

The Blair Motor Truck company's factory in West Newark has commenced work in a large order for trucks.

In anticipation of a busy season, the company for several months has been assembling and completing the manufacture of the clover bullers and other agricultural implements on hand with the idea of giving entire attention to the production of motor vehicles this fall. The plant has been remodeled and put in good repair and is now ready for business.

Mr. John P. McCune, general manager of the Blair Motor Truck Co., leaves for the East tonight to buy factory material. When seen at the plant by an Advocate man today, Mr. McCune said that the contract secured by Mr. Baker in New York last Saturday is big enough to keep the factory busy for a long time to come and that active operations will start upon the receipt of material with which motor trucks are built. Mr. McCune said that the order is for delivery of a certain number of motor trucks each month for a period of five years, starting in November and that the business on hand will keep the plant running to capacity.

The New York order, says Mr. McCune, is for the three-ton size trucks, sample of which was shipped to New York last week.

The Blair Gas-electric 48 passenger bus which was recently seen on the streets of Newark, is now in New York City. Asked about the bus proposition Mr. McCune said that the truck order is so large that the company will not be able to consider the manufacture of buses for several months. The fact that this Blair gas-electric bus runs more smoothly, more economically and carries a larger number of passengers than the French buses now used exclusively on Fifth Avenue, New York, leads the Blair people to believe that a demonstration of the Blair bus before interested parties will result in an order for buses.

The Blair factory is being financed by the R. L. Dollings company of Hamilton, O. Before undertaking the work the success of which is now assured, the Dollings organization investigated the proposition thoroughly and was convinced that the Blair is the best truck on the market and it is a fact that the Blair bus is the only successful gaso-electric passenger vehicle in existence.

Mr. McCune says the Blair company's New York order calls for delivery of the first lot of trucks in New York by the middle of November.

Nothing official as to the probable course of the chief executive has been given out, but it is said that he will summon the three members in question to his office for an explanation.

"It is not the purpose of this administration to draw the institutions and wards of the state into politics," Governor Willis said today to newspapermen in his private office.

"There has never been any attempt to draw them into politics and never shall as long as I am governor," he added.

He also declared that he had never asked the board of administration to make a single appointment.

One inference taken from his remarks was that he would not call upon the board to put General R. B. Brown, Republican of Zanesville in Burnett's place.

The governor said that he had heard from a good friend of General Burnett that he was not only willing but wanted to resign and that for this reason he was invited to come to see the governor to talk over the matter. The governor said that General Burnett assured him he wanted to resign and was anxious to give up the cares of office soon.

Governor Willis today named the commissioners who will select the site for the new state Normal school which is to be located somewhere in eastern Ohio and which was provided for by an act of the last legislature. Those appointed to make selection of the site are: George Bowers, Circleville, farmer; William McCrain, Washington, C. H., school superintendent; George Stauffer, Ottawa, Putnam county, newspaper man; O. J. Dodge, Delta, Fulton county, school superintendent; George Deitrich, Piqua school superintendent.

DIAMOND BROOCH STOLEN DURING A BIG DINNER PARTY.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Cleveland, O., Aug. 31.—Police were trying today to find the thief who stole a $1500 diamond brooch from the home of Mrs. Harry Haggerty last Saturday, while the owner was entertaining a party of twenty friends at dinner. The loss was not reported until today. Mrs. Haggerty thinks a sneak thief entered the house during the dinner and says she does not suspect any of the guests.

Molland and Herring.

To the sea the Dutch owe most of their wealth. The art of curing herring was discovered by a poor Dutch fisherman, William Beukels, in 1350, who found that the fish which they caught in great abundance could be smoked and salted away in kegs and then transported to the ends of the world in good condition. Such a trade resulted that it was said that "Amsterdam is built on herring bones." Several hundred years after the death of Beukels the emperor, Charles V., went to the tomb of the fisherman and there ate a herring in gratitude for the invention. And in a church in Bierleert today may be seen a stained glass window in honor of this man. Herring have been one of the chief means of trade to the Hollanders, so that even at the present day the first catch is taken to the royal palace in a coach and six.

The fact that the two dominant political parties of Holland for hundreds of years were called the "Cods" and the "Fishhooks" shows that maritime matters were the uppermost in the people's thoughts.—Exchange.

Concerning the Dolomites.

The fairland about Cortina is familiar to thousands of tourists as "The Dolomites." Dolomite, a rock compounded of carbonate of lime and carbonate of magnesia, takes its name from the French geologist Deodat de Gratet, Marquis de Dolomieu, who spent his time in 1780 and the following years, while his countrymen were busy with revolution and war, in visiting this and other Alpine districts. He first mentions this kind of rock in 1791, and the word "Dolomite" first occurs in a pamphlet of 1802 describing a tour of his in the Alps about the St. Gothard and the Simplon. The curious point, noted by Mr. Coolidge, is that the marquis seems to have paid no attention to the dolomite rocks in the neighborhood of his own home, Dolomieu, near Grenoble.—London Mirror.

The Familiar Unknown.

Things you see every day and never notice form a favorite topic with those who probe curiously into our deficiencies. The watch trick is perhaps an open secret by now, and yet you may fall in reproducing the Roman figures that you confront in all moods many times a day. Can you describe the aspect of a shilling, which I hope you see as many times a day, or a penny postage stamp? I am sure that any postal maiden could sell me a dozen penny stamps with the wrong head on them and send me away contented. And yesterday I met a man who had lived for years in happiness on Haverstock hill and couldn't tell me the number of steps that led to the front door of his own house.—London Spectator.

The Rise of Newfoundland.

Newfoundland has had a curious history. Cabot sailing from Bristol, discovered it in 1497, and in 1583 Sir Humphrey Gilbert annexed its wild and rocky shores for Queen Elizabeth. Yet until 130 years ago it was illegal to build a permanent house there. The island was held by "merchant adventurers" for the sake of the fisheries. They hired their fishermen in England, took them across the Atlantic each spring and brought them back at the commencement of winter.

Newfoundland's importance in the cod fishery arises to a great extent from the fact that it is only within the waters that the small fish desirable as bait can be obtained in the necessary quantities.—London Telegraph.

A Curious Royal Custom.

When any Spanish sovereign dies the body is at once submitted to the process of fossilization, nor can it be placed in the royal pantheon until the body has been absolutely turned into stone. Curiously enough, the period required for fossilization varies considerably. Some royal bodies have become solidified in a very short period, while others have taken years before the fossilization took place.

Early Ballooning.

First Photos of Packey McFarland Training for $32,500 Fight With Mike Gibbons

Using a punching bag for a medicine ball, for wind and speed.

At the pulleys to strengthen arms, chest, and back muscles.

Packey McFarland is taking the ten rounds with Mike Gibbons, scheduled for the Brighton Beach Motordome, New York, September 11, very seriously. He knows he has a fight on his hands, for he is to meet the cleverest man in the game with the possible exception of himself. He was ten pounds over weight Sunday, August 22, he admitted, while at work in a Chicago gymnasium, though he would not get on the scales to prove it.

The boxers must weigh 147 pounds at 9 o'clock on the day of the contest.

That is British, French and Australian welterweight champion. His battle ought to be considered a contest for the welterweight champion, not a middleweight contest at all.

McFarland said he would cover from eight to ten miles on the road every day and put in at least two hours of gymnasium work in the afternoon. In addition to the set programme, Packey will go at least eight rounds with his sparring partners, and will practice his punching tactics in vacant, white training for other contests. He goes through his training stunts in a business like sort of way and never stops hard work until he has put in two hours at the gym.

He is bigger all over and from present indications he may have as much trouble getting down to weight as Gibbons. Packey does not seem to have lost any of his old time speed and cleverness, despite the sudden increase in weight, and he appears to be hitting harder. It is his intention to develop his punching powers.

Packey will not venture an opinion on the result. He realizes Gibbons will hit his opponent hard to beat and he also knows it will be the hardest and toughest fight of his career.

GAMBLING IN STANDS PREVAILS IN ALL PARKS SAYS BOSTON OWNER

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Boston, Aug. 31.—Gambling in the bleachers at Fenway Park, which President B. B. Johnson, of the American League is said to be on his way here to investigate, was admitted today by J. J. Lannin, president of the Boston Red Sox team. At the same time he claimed that as no money is passed, it is difficult to eradicate the evil.

"Betting on different phases of the game has been in vogue in the bleachers and grandstand in every league city for many years," said Lannin. "Some arrests were made some years ago, when parties were detected passing money. But you cannot arrest two men when one says 'I'll bet you a dollar that Speaker scores' and the other nods his head, anymore than you can arrest a man for betting a red apple that tomorrow will be pleasant. I shall not engage extra policemen just because President Johnson is coming here."

FIRE CHIEFS IN CINCINNATI FOR 43RD CONVENTION

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 31.—Fire chiefs from nearly all of the large cities of the United States and Canada, were present when the forty-third annual convention of the International Association of Fire Engineers was opened here today.

The site is one of the terminals of the new government railway from Seward to Fairbanks for which congress already has appropriated $1,000,000 out of a prospective outlay of $35,000,000.

GREAT FEATURES TODAY'S RACING GRAND CIRCUIT

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

New York, Aug. 31.—After a lapse of five years, Grand Circuit trotting was revived at the Empire City track today. The feature of the card was another meeting between the great trotters, Lee Axworthy, this year's unbeaten four-year-old, and Peter Scott, which forced Lee Axworthy to a new record in the M. and Mr stakes at Detroit, five weeks ago.

On that occasion Lee Axworthy trotted two heats in 2:04 3-4, but the followers of Peter Scott believe he is capable of winning today.

Weather and track conditions favored fast work and the effort of Director I to beat them world's record I to beat the world's pacing record of 1.58 was an additional attraction.

CARRIER PIGEON MAKES A RECORD

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Los Angeles, Calif., Aug. 31.—An announcement was made today that "Ben Bolt," a carrier pigeon, had established a new long distance flight of approximately 2,200 miles from Norwalk, Ohio, to this city. It made the trip in five days, nine hours and 31 minutes, arriving yesterday.

The best previous flight, according to record, was made in 1912 by a bird which covered 1,000 miles in two days, nine hours and 43 minutes and 12 seconds.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

IDENTICAL RULES FOR BASKETBALL IN BOTH CLASSES

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

New York, Aug. 31.—A committee appointed by the Amateur Athletic Union to confer with the college athletic authorities regarding basketball, announced today that for the first time in the history of that game the amateur and collegiate rules this year will be alike. This result was attained through a number of open meetings held during the winter, and a mail vote.

The principal point of disagreement was the dribble rule.

The new uniform rule now adopted is in substance as follows:

Dribbling will be permitted,

and at the end of the dribble, player will be allowed to throw for goal, and if he hits the goal it will count.

Heretofore, the amateur rules did not permit the scoring of a goal after a dribble, but the amateur authorities have conceded this point to the college men and in the future amateur teams will permit this style of play the governors' conference, which was held in that city, August 24th to 27th."

This is a deliberate deception or an inexcusable asininity. Ohio's Governor did not attend the meeting of governors at Boston. Now the question—is this paragraph from the much n d dead and truthful Monitor an alibi to be called into use when needed on the stump?

Ohio at 'Frisco.

Dismissing with a sentence the extravagance of the Panama-Pacific Exposition Commission of Ohio, and the undesirable publicity Newton M. Miller has brought on the state his bacchanalian purchases, the Oakland (Cal.) Tribune, hands Governor Willis on right between the eyes. Editorially, among other things, it says:

"The whole trouble with the Ohio situation at the fair lies in the character of the commissioners whom Governor Willis appointed to represent the state. Ohio is one of the very important states of the Union, yet its representation at the fair is of a wholly colorless, unimportant and negligible character. As a matter of fact Ohio at the exposition hardly exists. Other states of consequence have distinguished men to represent them. They did not choose as commissioners petty politicians who had no other qualification for this particular task save that they were friends and supporters of the governor."

The editorial then at length points out that New York sent Dr. Seth Low, ex-president of Columbia, Martin Glynn, ex-governor; that Indiana sent C. W. Fairbanks, vice-president; that other states sent their governors and ex-senators; and that Ohio sent out an expatriate steward. It summarizes thus:

"If the people of Ohio find their state making a ridiculous and negligible figure at the exposition they have have their governor to thank for it."

Passion for Jewelry.

The power of the human desire for precious stones was well displayed at the American Jewellers convention which met at New York the past week. Five tons of jewelry were on exhibition. The assembled delegates were informed that the time had come to determine fashions in jewelry that should change with the years and seasons.

If this idea proves popular, costly jewelry will be even more of a luxury and addition to the cost of living.

As things have been, one could make a present of a handsome ring or pin, and feel confident it would be just as appropriate and stylish in 50 years as it was when the gift was made. But perhaps in a few years it will be as out of style as the bobble skirt.

Precious stones are a luxury that eats up many fortunes. Most men get along very comfortably with little or none of it. The traditional hotel clerk, of course, was supposed to have a diamond blazing in his shirt front as big as a small electric search light. Usually today he wears a negligee shirt and looks like other folks, and some other types of men likewise. But there is no abatement among women of the demand for gems.

Showing His Ignorance.

"What on earth are you doing?" demanded the indignant dining-car conductor of the novice waiter; "serving soup on a straight track? Why don't you wait until we strike a curve? You don't know the first principles of railroading!"—Puck.

The desire for precious stones is not an unworthy or discreditable taste. It is a love for the purest quintessence of beauty to be found on the planet, and appreciation of the loveliness of creation. The trouble is that the hands of many women, covered with sparkling rings, offer a coarse and barbaric suggestion of money and display of wealth. This promotes envious feelings in the minds of those less fortunate, is an incitement to crime, and often a waste of family resources.

The power of fashion is great. It seems quite possible that the jewelers will be able to promote sales by creating new styles each season. Discarding older fashions as obsolete. The jewelers can't be blamed for promoting their sales in this manner, but the result would be to promote extravagance with many people.

Forgive Them.

(Colliers Weekly for Sept. 4.) We cannot find it in us to cry out for vengeance upon the men who lynched Leo Frank. We know as well as anyone else that Frank was innocent—we know it better than some folks, for we think the pains-taking investigation made by Mr. Connolly in Collier's was not excelled in thoroughness or conscientiousness by any other review. Nevertheless we find it impossible to get up any blood lust of our own. The feeling that the whole thing inspires in us is a good deal nearer to sadness than to anger. Consider the men who did this act. Consider their motive. It could not be possibility be selfish. They did not expect to make any money out of it. They had no personal feeling against Frank—they had never seen him. For them was neither gain nor satisfaction in what they did. On the other hand, they took grave risks—risks in the shadow of which they will continue to walk until they die. It is impossible to conceive that their motives were other than patriotic. By all accounts they were the best men in the community—they carefully excluded the violent element from their counsels and their action. These men were inspired by the kind of high devotion that has frequently made heroes. Of course they were utterly wrong, but the place for the blame, as we see it, is not on the individuals who did the act, but the state of ignorance which made it possible for these individuals to think their act was good. It is not a time for self-righteousness. It is not a time to cry out against anyone. Georgia is not a neighbor; she is part of us. It is a time for searching of hearts. It is a time for all of us to enlarge our hearts by being charitable. We happen to know, by the way, that the counsel of Frank's mother was against violence. Undoubtedly, she said, these men thought they were doing right. It sounds a little like: "Forgive them, they know not what they do."

Giant Sequoia Trees.

The Sequoia National Park is twenty-four years old, east of the Rockies, it is scarcely known. Yellowstone and Yosemite are the only two names which the enormous majority of easterners think when National Parks are mentioned. Nevertheless, Sequoia is, perhaps, in point of average beauty, the superior of all. It was dear to the heart of John Muir, Father of National Parks, and Chief Geographer R. B. Marshall, who knows them all as no other man knows them, having surveyed or traversed them in person, has declared in print that it possesses beauty as great as all others combined.

It is par excellence the camping-out park, as some day will be discovered.

Perhaps the most potent reason for its lack of celebrity is that this is the Big Tree Park, and the general public associates the Big Trees of California with Yosemite.

The Mariposa Grove, within easy reach of the Yosemite Valley, contains three groves of these giants, the two others being the Merced and Tuolumne Groves, which lie within easy reach to the northwest.

The editorial then at length points out that New York sent Dr. Seth Low, ex-president of Columbia, Martin Glynn, ex-governor; that Indiana sent C. W. Fairbanks, vice-president; that other states sent their governors and ex-senators; and that Ohio sent out an expatriate steward. It summarizes thus:

"If the people of Ohio find their state making a ridiculous and negligible figure at the exposition they have have their governor to thank for it."

Prospects In Mexico.

(Ohio State Journal.)

President Wilson's Mexican policy is reaching definite proportions and the expectation is that it will meet with complete success, without the loss of a life. It has the support of the South American republics. The plan excludes all idea of physical intervention from the outside. It simply provides for the election of a provisional president to remain in authority for one year. When he is elected the United States and the South American governments will give him their moral support and see that no munitions of war are sent into Mexico to be used in defying its authority. The administration is confident of the success of this plan. What a triumph it will be for that much-derided policy of "watching and waiting." And what a fine illustration of that purpose to try every way possible that may promise to prevent bloodshed.

Roosevelt did all he could to push McKinley into the Spanish war; is he now pushing Wilson? But he has lost much of his old ability as a pusher.

TAKE A LOOK

If You Have Time

The prize weather story of the day comes from La Crosse, Wis. William Finn, a farmer near La Crosse found the frost so thick that he easily gathered up a snowball and shied it at a crowing rooster with fatal results. So the Finn family had spring chicken killed by an August snowball.

Spirit of the Press

Preparedness.

The Arabic incident has all blown over, and thousands of American lives have been saved. It is all due to preparedness. President Wilson was ready for the conflict with a stock of patience, justice, good will and faith in the righteousness of his cause. This is a powerful armament, and never fails to secure a victory. If some men had been in Wilson's place this country would by now be the scene of boom, bang, bluster and blunder. How different it is! It may not always be just this way. Maybe patience and good will will lose their power: then it will be time enough to fight.—Ohio State Journal.

Ireland.

For the first time in over 60 years Ireland's population is now said to be increasing, though only slightly. Probably even this gain will be more than overcome by the losses suffered in the war. It is difficult to realize that Ireland at one time, some 75 or 80 years ago, had a population nearly double the present figures. Famine, emigration, misgovernment and other causes played havoc with its people, and it is only in recent years that there has developed a prosperity that seems likely to be permanent.—Philadelphia Record.

How Much Does a War Cost.

At the end of the first year of the war, peace societies have been taking stock. Announcement is sent out that so far the nations involved have spent a sum just about equal to the value of all the farm lands in America. That would be more than twenty-eight billion dollars. The figures are inconceivable, and they may be exaggerated; but that is one way in which you can get an idea of the enormous expense of maintaining armies in the field. If every farm in America was free from mortgage debt, and if every farmer should sell every acre he owns and put the proceeds in the great European war purse, the total amount would pay the last year's bills. It's hard to figure how war pays isn't it?—Farm Life.

Illustrated His Sermon.

Rev. R. G. Callison was addressing a large congregation in the tabernacle of the Oregon Christian Church Convention at Turner, Oregon, the other day, when he fell to the floor of the pulpit and expired in a few seconds. The preacher's theme had been that a good, devoted, useful life is necessary as preparation for the future life. The last words that came from the minister's lips before he fell with the stroke of apoplexy were: "Prepare to live, and you will be prepared to die." God has made the love of life so strong that fear of death is natural. Faith in Christ, his atonement, his resurrection, and his promise of immortality, has cured that dread of death. The minister was right when he taught that the best preparation for death was to do our duty every day, and every hour in the day.—The Christian Herald.

COLDEST, WETTEST, MOST DISAGREEABLE SUMMER IN CHICAGO.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Chicago, Aug. 31.—Today marks the passing of the coldest, wettest and most unreasonable August Chicago has ever experienced. June and July were in the same category. July temperatures were three degrees below normal; June was 2.5 degrees, and August 4.4 degrees under the average.

In summer, according to the weather bureau there is usually a high barometric pressure around the Bermudas, sending warm southerly winds toward Chicago. This year the high pressure has been mostly in Canada and as a result Chicago has had inordinately cool weather.

WARMER WEATHER SOON TO FOLLOW SUMMER'S COLDEST.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Washington, Aug. 31.—Summer's coldest weather was spread today over the northern part of the country from the Rocky mountains to the Atlantic and southward well into the gulf states. Warmer weather is in prospect for tomorrow. Lowest temperatures ever recorded in August were reported to the weather bureau generally from the Ohio valley, Indiana, Illinois, Eastern Missouri and Texas. Light frosts occurred during the night in portions of Michigan, Indiana and Illinois.

A winter roast was given by the young men and women of the Fairmont Sunday school, Monday evening, in the grove of Mr. A. W. Beard, north of Jacksonstown. One of the most enjoyable evenings was spent by playing many games by the fireside of a heaping brush pile.

TEN YEARS OF
SKIN-TORTURE

Oct. 28, 1914:—"I had eczema on my face for ten years. Little red pimples formed in a small spot on my chin and then spread all over my face. They itched and burned me awfully. It was certainly embarrassing to me, and I would not go among people. I tried almost every remedy and treatment that could be used for this trouble, but nothing did me any good. I used Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, and was relieved in a day or two. In one month I was cured. This was six months ago and the trouble has never returned."—(Signed) Mrs. C. C. The Resinol treatment speedily heals eczema, rashes, ringworm, and other eruptions, and clears away disfiguring pimples and blackheads, even when other treatments prove worse than useless. Doctors have prescribed Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap for eighteen years, and all druggists sell them.

EXERCISE TO GAIN PROPER POISE

PROPER BALANCE ESSENTIAL TO GAIN HEALTH AND GRACE.

The third in the series of physical development articles written for The Advocate by Anna Louise Shafer gives a new and rather striking viewpoint from which to consider this all-important subject—the very simple and very logical sequence of the proper muscular oppositions resulting in the trinity of physical development—health, strength, grace.

Each number in the series promises to be quite as interesting, and all consistently illustrated, making the exercises very easily followed.

By Anna Louise Shafer.

There are some 500 muscles in the human body, and nearly all are arranged in opposite sets. This explains why, if a body is not balanced according to the laws of oppositions, there is not the proper tension for resisting fatigue, which results from sagging, inactive muscles. The lack of grace and harmony which naturally results to a body out of balance is always in evidence.

As far as the muscles themselves are directly concerned, exercise is the necessary condition of their best development. "A muscle which is permanently unused degenerates and is absorbed."

Here we have the cause of that lack of dynamic strength which invariably results from too sedentary life; bad body poise, with little or no muscular exercise. Weakness is bound to result, no matter how generous, how nourishing a diet one may indulge in. In fact, a restricted diet is much better in such a case otherwise the unused muscles are likely to be "absorbed" by rolls of fat, which simply add another burden to the depleted muscular strength.

The walls of the abdomen are almost entirely composed of muscles. If these muscles, as well as the abdominal contents, are to retain their resiliency, strength, life, there must be the proper tension at all times, which can only result from proper poise, or body balance. In a properly balanced body the tension brought about by ordinary movement would prevent, to a large degree, the accumulation of excess fat.

The most simple exercises, with the body in harmonic poise, give us the muscular tension essential to the trinity of development we are aiming for—health, strength, grace.

Lesson III.

Stand in the basic, well-balanced poise, weight forward on balls of feet; arms easy at the sides, palms in. Now raise arms in a broad circle, bringing hands to forehead, making a face of the palms, as shown in pose. This action of the arms adds the proper degree (for the beginning) to the tension of the abdominal and waist muscles furnished by the basic poise. These changes in tension must be made slowly and evenly. It also gives a graceful exercise to the arms themselves. Be careful that the wrists lead as the arms go up. Make the motion in rhythmic count, hands on forehead on fifth count. Return in five counts.

Special to The Advocate

Granville, Aug. 31.—The village is dull and quiet during these days preceding the opening of school, and the depressing weather has had its effect in making the place seem even more dull than usual. People come and go, are entertained at luncheon, dinner or tea, without making much of a ripple on the placid surface of the "social swim." Today the sun is shining and not much damage seems to have been done by the threatened frost last night. Mrs. C. E. Goodell is favored with a beautiful day for the reception she is giving this afternoon at her home in East College street, in honor of Rev. D. C. Gilmore, who leaves in a few days for San Francisco, whence he will sail for Burma. Dr. Gilmore is professor of English literature in the Baptist college in Rangoon, which enrolls over 1,800 students. After a year of rest with his family in Granville, he is ready to return to his responsible post. Mrs. Gilmore, Miss Gilmore and Robert will remain in Granville for the present.

— the "Fitzgerald," the "Kalamazoo" as well as bargains in the ever popular "Champion."

Mrs. Gitter of Zanesville is visiting her sister, Miss Blanche Horton, at her home in Granger street.

Today at Ithaca, N. Y., a marriage is to be solemnized which is of more than passing interest to a large circle of friends and acquaintances of the bridegroom in this vicinity. Dr. James F. Baldwin, 32, for years assistant professor of history in Vassar college, and until this summer impervious to Cupid's darts, will lead to the altar Miss Ellen Adams of Ithaca, and after a brief wedding tour, will return to Poughkeepsie with his bride, who is described as being "beautiful, good and accomplished."

Professor Baldwin is the elder son of Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Baldwin, who since leaving Granville has made a distinguished name for himself in the realm of literature. Congratulations and best wishes follow the couple to their new home.

HOW TO LOSE YOUR TAN, FRECKLES OR WRINKLES

A day's motoring in afternoon, a tennis ground or golf links, a sunbath on the beach or exposure on a sea shore often brings on a deep tan or wrinkles, often perplexing still, a vigorous crop of freckles, unless necessary thing then is mercerized wax, which removes tan, redness of freckles quite easily. It literally peels off the skin a little at a time, so there's no hurt or injury.

As the skin comes off in almost invisible flaky particles, no trace of the treatment is shown. Get an ounce of mercerized wax at your druggist and use this night, on cold cold cream, washing it off morning. In a week or so you will have an entirely new skin, beautifully clear, transparent, and of a most delicate whiteness. Wrinkles tend to form at this season, may be easily removed by bathing the face in a solution of powdered saponite, 1 oz. dissolved in witch hazel, ½ pint. This is not only a valuable toner, but has a beneficial tonic effect also.

BECAUSE THERE ARE NONE.

What Apologies There Are For Them Are a Great Deal Like the Bed of a Stone Quarry—The Torture That Goes With a Trip in a Peking Cart.

Describing the roads, or, rather, the lack of roads, in China and the torture that is undergone by the tourist who, used to the luxurious modes of travel we may employ, trusts himself to the uncertain joys of a trip in a Peking chair, a writer in the Wide World Magazine says:

"Now, a Peking cart is a very venerable mode of progression. When our ancestors were lightly dressed in woad and had no conception of any wheeled vehicle the Chinese lady was paying her calls in the back of a Peking cart, the seat of honor under the tilt, well out of sight of the passers by, while her servant sat in front, the place of comfort, if such a word can be applied to anything pertaining to a Peking cart.

"In spite of its long and aristocratic record if there is any mode of progression more wearying and uncomfortable I have not met it. It is simply a springless board set on a couple of wheels with a wagon tilt of blue cotton over it and a place for heavy luggage behind. The Chinaman sits on the floor and does not seem to mind, but the ordinary westerner, like myself, packs his bedding and all the cushions he can beg or borrow around him and then resigns himself to his fate.

"The Peking cart has one advantage, people will tell you—it has nothing to break in it. But there are moments when it would be a mighty relief if something did break, for if the wood-work holds together as it tosses you from side to side you yourself are one sore, bruised mass. No; I cannot recommend a Peking cart, even on the smoothest road.

"And the roads in China are not smooth. We all know the description of the snakes in Ireland. There are none, and much the same might be said about the roads in China. There are so called roads, certainly, upon which the people move about, but I have seldom met one that was any better than the surrounding country, and very often on this journey I met roads where it was ease and luxury to move off them on to the neighboring plowed field.

"The recipe for a road there in the north seems to be: Take a piece of the country that is really too bad to plow or to use for any agricultural purpose whatever, that a mountain torrent, in fact, has given up as too much for the water, upset a stone wall over it—a stone wall with good, large stones in it—take care they never fall a moment lie evenly, and you have your road.

"Leaving Peking for the eastern tombs, you go for the first two or three hours along a paved way of magnificent proportions planned and laid out as a highway should be. The great stones with which it is paved were probably put there by slave labor, how many hundred years ago I do not know, but the blocks are uneven now, some of them are gone altogether, though how a huge block of stone could possibly disappear passes my understanding, and whenever the carters could not take the cart down beside the road, where at least the dust made a cushion for the nail studded wheels, and the jarring and the jolting were not quite so terrible.

"It takes as long to get beyond the environs of Peking in a cart as it does to get out of London in a motorcar. First we passed through the Babylonish gate, and the great walls were behind us; then, outside the city, all looking dusty, dirty and khaki colored in the brilliant sunshine, were numerous small houses, and the wayside was lined with booths on which were things for sale.

"Along the roadway came an endless array of people, clad for the most part in blue cotton—men walking, men with loads slung from a bamboo across their shoulders, donkeys laden with baskets or sacks of grain, with fat Chinese on their backs. There were Peking carts, there were mules, there were ponies, and this busy throng is almost the same as it was a couple of thousand years ago.

"But it was a long, long while before I could feel I was really in the country. There was the khaki colored land, there were the khaki colored houses, built of mud apparently, with graceful tiled roofs, and blue clad people everywhere and everywhere at work.

"Always the fields were most beautifully tiled. There were no fences. The Chinese are too civilized to need fences, and when you see stone walls it is only because, since they can't be dropped off the planet into space, the stones must be disposed of somehow."

Commissioners' Office.

Commissioners Ben B. Jones, Jos. H. Orr and Frank R. Dunn were in their office this morning ready for any business which might come before the board. It was not a regular meeting day and as business was a little slow Commissioner Jones brought out a bushel bag full of delicious eating apples which were raised on his farm and treated all who happened in his office, demonstrating thereby that he can raise good fruit just as well as he can win fat men's races, he having won such a contest at the Masonic picnic a few days ago. It is said that Commissioner Orr has challenged him to a race and that the contest is to be pulled off at Mountbuilders Park in the very near future, Mr. Dunn acting as referee.

Divorce Petition.

Clayton E. Stouffer has filed a petition in probate court asking that he be divorced from Jennie Stauffer. The petition states that they were married June 1, 1888. He alleges that defendant left his home Jan. 1, 1914, and remained away for more than a month without letting him know her whereabouts; that about the middle of January, 1915, defendant again left his home and has never since returned; that as a consequence she has been guilty of gross neglect in failing to perform her marital duties.

True Secret of Keeping Youthful Looking

(The Beauty Seeker.)

"The real secret of keeping young-looking and beautiful," says a well-known physician, "is to keep the liver healthy, normal and active. Within the body are poisons, poisonous waste products remain in the system, polluting the blood and lodging in various organs, tissues, etc. One becomes hasty, obese, nervous, morose, sluggish, dull-eyed, wind-kid and sallow of face. "But to get liver and bowels working as they ought, without producing evil after effects, had been the problem. Fortunately, there is now a remedy which may now be had in convenient tablet form. Its value is due largely to an ingredient derived from the humble May apple or its root, which has been claimed to be the chief cause of its effectiveness—though of course it is not to be classed with the real calomel of mercurial origin. There is no habit-forming constituent in "Santanal tablets." They are named and their use is not followed by weariness or exhaustion. On the contrary, these harmless vegetable tablets tend to impart tone and elasticity to the relaxed intestinal walls. A weak heart, which may be procured from any disease, a disease worth will do—will prove a revelation to any constipated, liver-troubled person."

Chief Cause of Pimples, Blotches, Sallow Skin

(Messenger of Health.)

Unsightly eruptions, pimples, boils, blisters, ulcers, or muddy skin, usually due to a sluggish liver, are caused by bowel—and a polluted blood stream as a consequence. How foolish in such cases to resort to outward applications, which can not have a natural, permanent result. If you have only a few pimples, it is a very simple remedy to be found in any drug store, which is as effective as it is harmless and quick acting. It is an old formula, long recognized by the medical profession, which has been put in the press and at such small cost so that we need now be deprived of its wonderful benefits.

"Santanal tablets"—that's the name—entered the market. You can now get about a dime's worth and swallow one at bedtime to realize there's nothing else quite so good for the purpose. The action in the morning is easy, so soft, fine and delicate a working after-effect, you feel truly refreshed and invigorated. Santanal tablets are not only the finest remedy known for constipation and torpid liver, but offer the sanest, simplest and most economical treatment for complexion difficulties of the character mentioned.

Great Demand for New Constipation Remedy

They say that the advent of the "santanal tablets" has resulted in an enormous demand for this remarkable product. It seems to have made a hit particularly with those afflicted with chronic constipation, who were quick to recognize its advantages over calomel and the usual laxatives.

Santanal tablets, aside from their efficacy, doubtless owe their success largely to a tendency to aid in bringing about a more normal condition instead of easing the "cathartic habit." Also, instead of injuring the membranous lining of the organs involved, they exert a healing effect. In other words, they weaken, they add tone to, they make them strong again. They are of course preferable to cathartics, account to the violently acting cathartics. Their inexpensiveness is another reason for the great demand for Santanal tablets. One tablet costs only a dime's worth, and takes one tablet upon retiring, to be convinced that the ideal remedy for constipation, torpid liver, and their many evil consequences, has finally been found.—Drugstore Review.

Expert Advice For the Automobile Owner

Queries and Replies Covering Matters of Importance to the Man Who Runs a Car

What makes it possible for one wheel to reverse while the other goes ahead, running on a wet pavement with the brakes applied?

The differential action will allow one wheel to revolve clockwise, while the other turns anti-clockwise, but with the brakes applied and holding well neither wheel should turn. In the case you mention the brakes evidently were slipping and thus permitted the wheels to turn.

In setting a motor for high speed what changes should be made in the valve timing?

The most important and effective change is to keep the intake valve open for a longer period.

Kindly explain just how a backfire is caused and why this should happen any more with a weak mixture than when the mixture is rich. Also where does the backfire start?

A backfire is possible with either a weak or rich mixture, although more common with the former, because a weak mixture burns more slowly. The backfire starts in the cylinder and is due to the presence of flame in the combustion chamber when the intake valve opens to take in a fresh charge. If the combustion of the charge is very slow there will be a flame in the cylinder, not only all through the power or expansion stroke, but also through the succeeding exhaust stroke, so that what gas remains in the cylinder when the exhaust valve closes and the intake valve opens is still incandescent and sets the fresh charge on fire the moment it comes in contact with it, thus producing backfire.

Ordinarily a backfire can only be produced by a weak mixture at high speed, say 1,000 revolutions per minute, although with a very weak mixture or a very late spark a backfire may be produced at a much lower speed, say 800. It is possible to make the motor backfire by using too rich a mixture also, but the overrich mixture burns faster than the one that is too lean, and therefore the former is generally burned out before the intake valve opens.

Will larger valves increase the power and speed of a motor?

Larger valves are essential to power. Large intake valves especially add much to the power of an engine.

What do cylinders offset from the crank shaft mean?

An offset cylinder is one whose axis is offset from the vertical plane through the crank shaft. That is a line drawn vertically through the crank shaft center. In offset cylinder construction when the piston is on top dead center the connecting rod is not directly in line with the crank shaft, but, rather, makes an angle with it.

Cylinders are offset so as to diminish the side pressure exerted between the piston and cylinder when the piston is on the firing stroke, accomplished here by reducing the angle of the connecting rod when the pressure upon the piston is great and increasing the angularity when the pressure is low.

Can you tell me the best fireproof material to use in the construction of a garage?

Although concrete is considered better than other material for this purpose, consultation with a prominent builder brings out that cheap and efficient flooring can be made with a combination of hollow tile and concrete.

The tile is placed in rows and about five inches left between each row. Into this space concrete is poured and a reinforcement of plain round rod used.

The main advantage of this construction is that it is light in weight and cheaper than concrete alone. It has proved satisfactory in practice. It is claimed further that the air spaces in the tile act as an insulator against heat, cold and noise.

Can a motor designed for a certain voltage do any pulling at all when connected up to a current either twice or only half as much as the designers figured on?

It is understood that the generator supplying current is one of low voltage, probably about thirty-two.

An electric motor designed to operate normally at thirty-two volts, for example, will operate at voltages under thirty-two, but the speed will be reduced considerably.

It also may be operated at slightly over thirty-two volts provided the designer took this into consideration in the windings.

Many electric vehicles are operated by simply changing the voltage across the motor terminals, this being accomplished either by inserting resistance in the line or by altering the battery connections so that either series or parallel connections may be made with various numbers of batteries.

However, a motor designed to operate at thirty-two volts maximum would burn out if the voltage were doubled, just as a 110 volt lamp would burn out if inserted in a 220 volt circuit.

While my engine is idling with the clutch in or out a dull thump may be heard. This comes at irregular intervals. Can you explain this?

The thump undoubtedly is from the motor, since by detaching the clutch everything behind it remains still.

A loose bearing might cause a thump, and a loose flywheel might emit the same sound.

What is the best bushing for valve stems?

Brass or bronze seems to be the best valve stem bushing. These metals are soft comparatively, and the wear bears on them and cast iron or steel is little.

What advantages are gained by fitting three piston rings to the groove instead of one?

The advantages claimed for special piston rings are that they hold compression better, prevent oil from entering the compression chamber more effectively and in some cases reduce the wear on the cylinder walls.

At night I have noticed a spark from the metal edging of the footboards of my car. What causes this?

A battery wire may be touching some metal part of the car. There is a short circuit somewhere, and if you will trace every circuit you no doubt will find the break.

My car does not get a continual supply of oil. The oil will flow through the oil sight feed for awhile and then stop.

The Best KisselKars Ever Built

The new KisselKars measure up to those standards that give assurance of service far beyond the average, because the enduring things are built in—because they are manufactured cars in every vital point. They are, in fact, the best KisselKars yet produced.

Therefore, there is deep significance in the fact that bigger plans and increased output have brought about a new alignment of prices, including a four at $1050 and a six at $1485—each a superior car in construction, appearance, finish, performance.

And looming in the background is the perfected ALL-YEAR Car—an original feature that gives a KisselKar distinction, attraction and utility exclusively its own.

KISSELKAR The ALL-YEAR Car

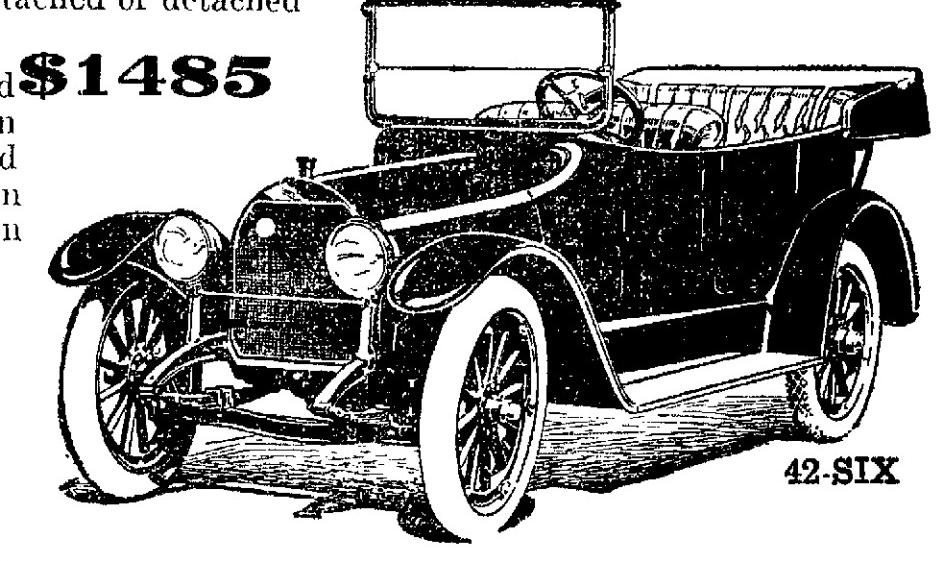

The ALL-YEAR Car—invented and introduced by Kissel—was the paramount achievement in body designs last season. It met for the first time a demand for the continuous service of one body—an open touring car in summer and closed car in winter. The top is easily attached or detached by inexpert men.

The new ALL-YEAR Cars have beautiful Rothchild lines—the design worked out so skillfully that not even an expert can distinguish them from the finest closed coach in passing. In addition to the ALL-YEAR Sedan Top, there is a new ALL-YEAR Coupe Top mounted on the smartest four passenger roadster yet conceived.

the gears to give an unsteady sound like that caused by gears which themselves are running out of alignment. The thrust bearings may be worn. It is advised that you have the gears removed and tried up in the shop, for it is almost impossible to detect the cause of an out of round when the gears are in the casing. If you do not wish to go to this trouble try clean lubricant, and before placing it in the case wash the case thoroughly and give the gears a good cleaning also using kerosene freely in both instances.

How can oil be stopped from leaking out of a timing gear case? The gasket is good.

Do not put too much lubricant into the case, for this will cause excessive gassing and thus push the oil out through the crevices. If the gasket is good the nuts should be drawn up tightly and evenly. In tightening the nuts tighten one and then the opposite one just as much and continue this until all are drawn up the same amount.

Suppose a front axle is bent one inch straight back between the knuckles and spring. Will it throw the wheels out of line, causing undue wear on the tires? By straight back I mean as an axle naturally would bend due to the front wheel striking something.

There is little chance that the wheels still are in alignment. It is amazing how slight a stress is necessary to throw the wheels out of alignment. Should the car be driven too close to the curb and not necessarily at a high rate of speed the wheel striking the curb may be thrown out of alignment. You should have the nut taken care of immediately by some experienced repair man.

A STARTLING NOVEL

"The Pirates of the Sky" to Be Published in Pittsburg Dispatch.

The most thrilling and momentous novel written since Rider Haggard's "King Solomon's Mines," is "The Pirates of the Sky," a speculative tale of fiction by Stephen Gaillard, who writes of the possibilities of aircraft in brigandage. With a well-worked-out plot, the author has shown what might ensue if outlaws were to gain control of the largest and swiftest aeroplanes known to the world. The story tells of raids on the principal American cities, where with bombs and gunnery the inhabitants were terrorized and then the banks looted, etc. Millionaires and women are kidnapped and carried off to an inaccessible valley in South America. The band of cultured outlaws has sworn to overturn all governments. The chief is a Russian nihilist. Dissensions and intrigue enter the oath-bound society, and its disintegration has already begun when an Indian aviator and a Chicago newspaper reporter find the lair and with the help of earthquakes and volcanic eruptions clear the world of its greatest enemy. A pretty love story runs through an all-absorbing plot. "The Pirates of the Sky" will begin serial publication in The Pittsburg Dispatch, Monday, September 6, 1915. You must read it. Order the paper today. Consult your newsdealer or write the Pittsburg Dispatch, Pittsburg, Pa.

In Milady's Boudoir

By Gwen Sears

To have a pretty arm is a boon craved by most women. But arms are not all pretty, and to make them so will require treatment and lots of patience. One must remember that it is harder to build up than to tear down. However there are simple treatments that will work wonderful improvement, if not entirely corrected, that will perfect the circulation and take away taint or add to any part of the arm. Should the arm be thin the exercise should be mild, but if there is too much flesh the exercise should be vigorous.

An ideal method of plumping the arms is to wrap them with oiled bandages to be worn at night. Before applying the bandages the entire arm should be bathed with warm water for eight or ten minutes. In addition to cleansing the skin it opens the pores and better prepares the skin to absorb the oil.

The bandages should be strips of linen about two inches wide, which are first soaked in olive oil and then applied. Begin at the wrist by winding the bandages around the arm working upward until the whole arm is encased. The bandage should be put on firmly, but not as tightly as to retard circulation. To protect one's clothing or the bed clothes, oiled silk may be used to cover the bandages.

The oil may be applied by massaging it if it is not convenient to wear the bandages but the bandages are better. The arms should be bathed again in the morning when the bandages are moved, and after thoroughly dried, a small amount of oil again rubbed into the skin by friction, after which the arms are wiped with a soft cloth and powdered.

The story in its novel form has been read by more than eighty million people. It is a fair estimate to presume that more than eight times eighty million people will wish to see the film realization of the brilliant romance that ends in an unusual tragedy.

In the film play the author has added to her creation in a prologue that intensifies the thrill of some of her scenes and adds color and vivacity to others.

Sonia runs away from her castle and her king after the manner described in the book. She encounters Paul in the restaurant in Lucerne, Switzerland, precisely as recounted in the novel. The two, a queen without a country and a king without a throne—fall madly in love. She struggles against her entrapment, and seeks to flee from temptation. But an accident halts her flight and the inevitable next meeting occurs.

In the photoplay version all these incidents are idealized. The tiger rug tryst of the paid in the queen's apartment in Lucerne is reproduced as in the novel. The thrilling and tragic denouement of the romance of the pair is shown in all its original gripping power. The orgies of the dissolute king, the mad revels in the palace, the plots and counterplots of the cabal of royal counselors to dethrone the queen are all graphically indicated.

Miss Madeline Traverse, who appears in the role of the temerarious queen, is regarded as one of the most attractive of the country's younger stars. Mr. Mabton Hamilton, who plays the role of Paul, is one of the most popular leading players of the native stage.

FORD JOKE BOOK

With the passing of the ancient and hoary mother-in-law wheeze, the moss grown chicken gags and the decrepit railroad jokes, the American public floundered about for some time in a sea of common places until somebody sprang the original Ford joke and started a long train of witticism that spread like wildfire from coast to coast.

So popular has the Ford joke become that it is reported that 50,000 of The Original Ford Joke Books were disposed of inside of a month. T. J. Evans, who is the local distributor of the book, says that The Original Ford Joke Book is going to sell like wildfire here and best of all, the owners of Ford cars seem to be the best customers for them.

WOMAN'S BEAUTY NO SECRET.

It all lies in the care she bestows upon herself and in keeping at bay those dread ills peculiar to her sex. The flashing eye, the elastic skin and the clear complexion never accompany organic troubles. The distressed expression, lassitude, headaches and mental depression are only the tell-tale symptoms. Women so troubled should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that simple remedy made from roots and herbs, and restore their health to a normal condition.

Try This, Daughters.

Pleading Daughter—"Yes; but, daddy, dear, a week passes so quickly when you're fond of one another."

have stated of late that although China has changed the monarchy into a republican form of government, her internal affairs are just as deplorable now as in the late dynasty and that bribery and gambling among officials still prevails.

"During the Chino-Japanese war and the Boxer trouble, our people were greatly stirred up and determined to lie on straws and taste the bitterness to prepare themselves for future emergencies. But when the anxious time was once passed, they forgot everything.

"We cannot be ignorant of the history of Poland and Annan. During the crisis of the recent Chino-Japanese negotiations, it was a good sign that our people were greatly awakened by the threatened calamity. Should they again quickly forget the indignity the country received, the greater calamity of the country is bound to come."

BLOCK SYSTEM FOR B. & O. S. W. SAYS MANAGER

Columbus, Aug. 31.—By tomorrow, Sept. 1, the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern railway will have a complete manual block system in operating its trains and additional night operators between Columbus and Orient, according to J. M. Davis, general manager, in a notice to the public utilities commission yesterday. Barring the breakdown of telegraph and telephone connections, he says, it will be impossible for a wreck, such as that which occurred at Orient August 12 to happen again.

Mr. Davis said the wreck was due to the failure of trusted employees to obey rules of the road; also that the company is purchasing additional steel passenger cars to replace the old wooden ones.

WIDE AWAKE

posed association in a position to offer inducements to industries seeking new locations. He however, favored an association, even if it did not succeed in anything more than bringing about better civic improvements, for their section of the city.

W. M. Morgan, president of the Trades and Labor council, was requested to give his views on the subject of the proposed organization. Always a pleasing speaker, ever ready with the proper push and boost. Mr. Morgan outlined how a society might be organized to act in conjunction with the board of trade, which could assist in bringing about many needed improvements, and in time offer inducements to factories seeking a location. He knew that the East End was composed of excellent citizenship, men who would and could do things. Mr. Morgan closed by offering his assistance to do anything within his power to assist the proposed organization.

Mr. J. V. Haas was next called upon to give his views on the project. Mr. Haas is a live wire as has been demonstrated by his handling of the secretaryship of the Business Mens' Association. He told of the good which might be accomplished, the community betterment which could be brought about by such a movement and promised to do all in his power for the success of the new association.

A. J. Baldwin was introduced by the chairman and gave a pleasing little talk about the possibilities of the East End, its environments and its location for industries. He favored the forming of an East End Boosters' club or a society which had in view the promotion of East End interests.

Attorney A. S. Mitchell had been invited to be present and although living in another part of the city, proved by the talk which followed that he had East Newark citizens' interests at heart and was willing to lend his assistance in promoting a co-operative society that would work in conjunction with the central body or Newark Board of Trade. He spoke of the benefits which could be derived from such an organization, which with unity of effort could bring about industrial and civic improvements.

Mr. Frank L. Johnson, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. being called upon gave a splendid talk, praising the citizens of Newark in general and telling of his like for the city in which he has made his home for the past four years. He told of results which could be accomplished by co-operation and knew that the citizens of the East End were hustlers and that if they started they would effect an organization that would redound to the credit of the entire community.

It was moved that temporary officers be elected and this was done by selecting Mr. Wesley Montgomery as chairman, J. V. Haas as secretary and a committee of three, David Metz, F. J. Singleton and Ora Payne to draft a plan of organization. While this was being done Mr. Meeker, of the Ideal Wheel company addressed the assemblage on his proposition to locate a factory in East Newark. Mr. Meeker is a young man of pleasing personality, an excellent speaker and made quite a favorable impression.

Mr. Montgomery then assumed charge of the meeting and gave a pleasing talk along the lines of proper procedure and the advantages of the East End for factory sites. He advised those present to become boosters and thought that the association might in time accomplish much good.

The committee on organization next reported recommending that a membership fee of $1 be charged, that a board of directors and officers be selected at the next meeting, and that a committee of three be selected on membership. The report of the committee was adopted and A. J. Baldwin, J. I. Smith and John McVicker were appointed by the chair to solicit members and they immediately became busy and secured quite a number before the meeting adjourned.

A committee on by-laws was appointed by Chairman Montgomery consisting of Messrs. Payne, Singleton, Metz, W. M. Jones and Montgomery. After selecting Thursday evening of this week as the time to effect a permanent organization the meeting was adjourned to meet at the same place at 7:30 o'clock.
